COMMUNICATION

Dear Sir:

The above-captioned patent application is filed under 37 CFR 1.53(b) as a continuation of International Application Number PCT/EP00/03019, filed April 5, 2000 and claims priority from German Patent Application Number DE 199 15 465.1, filed April 6, 1999. The thirty month date from priority is October 6, 2001; that date being a Saturday and the following Monday being a USPTO holiday, this continuation is timely filed.

The supporting documents for this filing include a copy of the specification and claims as published in the German language under the PCT on October 12, 2000 as WO 00/59536, as well as facsimile copies of certified English language translations of the specification and claims as published and of the claims as amended during the International prosecution. All of the amended claims were found to satisfy PCT requirements for novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability.

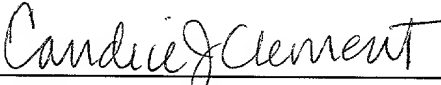

The specification filed herewith, comprises the aforementioned English language translation reformatted in accordance with USPTO Practice, to include paragraph numbering, a cross-reference to the related PCT application, a claim for foreign priority and an Abstract. In addition, the application includes a set of claims drafted in form for United States examination. No new matter has been introduced.

Applicants respectfully request examination and consideration of claims 1-21.

Respectfully submitted,

Date: October 9, 2001
